To Whom It May Concern,

As a lecturer at the Higher School of Economics (HSE) I am writing this reference to Popov Vitalii.

I teach 3 subjects in HSE: "Development and Analysis of Requirements", "Project Management", and an elective subject "Agile in Enterprise Environment". Vitalii attended all of them.

The courses cover management of software development, agile and scaled agile frameworks, roles at software development, project and product management. During the seminars offer to tackle the teamwork tasks, which are a Kanban simulator game and organization of several projects.

Vitaly actively asked questions at lectures. At the seminars, he successfully led a group of 5 students, and took part in the discussions of the results and during retrospective meetings.

I am satisfied with Vitalii results and recommend him for admission to master's programs in Computer Science.

Respectfully,
Boris A. Klimov
